

What People Are Saying About Jam Jar Sonnets:

The following are all unsolicited letters and emails from individuals who attended the original production of Jam Jar Sonnets at Bethany Lutheran College.

The music throughout the play is fantastic. The story feels vaguely familiar, like something you can't believe you haven't heard before. The images in this play are absolutely, sincerely, unforgettable. Although it is nearing the end of our summer break, I'm obviously still thinking about this play.

It was such a stinkin' good play. BRAVO! ...Goosebumps aren't an everyday thing and I am grateful for the moments that bring them. Everything was as it should be. I loved the set...especially with the scenes involving the kids. Why can't we all be so honest as we get older? Man. Did I say STINKIN' GOOD?

...That was the most amazing play I have ever seen. I am so privileged to have seen it. That has to be like made into a movie or something. It was just Awesome!

...You totally lived up to the hype! I laughed, I cried, I cheered and I danced! What a wonderful and unique experience – many standing "O"s for you and your awesome cast.

My entire family saw the play opening night. We thought it was wonderful. I don't think I have heard from anyone who has seen it that they haven't been moved by the emotion, effort, music, or the imagery. Awesome.

I had the pleasure of seeing your play "Jam Jar Sonnets" last weekend. I can't remember when I have enjoyed a play more.

My Husband... and I came to your show last Saturday evening...I just wanted to let you know how much I enjoyed it. There was such depth of heart through the whole storyline.

What a marvelous play...I had wanted to tell you when I saw you on Saturday, but I knew I would burst into tears if I had tried to speak to you at that moment. There were several women drying their eyes in the restroom when I stopped in to get some tissue for me. Even my husband teared up when we were visiting later at Charlie's (restaurant). I'm hearing today that many people had the same reaction. Actually, I'm sure that your storyline touched people in more ways than just happy tears, as it did with me.
